HALCYON

Beginnings . . .

With change as the constant in our world, we look for protection in what we see as immovable and impenetrable. As Swarthmore students, for us Parrish becomes the embodiment of refuge from change. Yet, as a diverse group, we all see the building with different perspectives. The 1985 Halcyon wishes to convey our different views of Parrish as representative of the richness of diversity that comprises our Swarthmore years.

Even though Parrish acts as an anchor in an everchanging world, we have not been immune to the changes of the past year. Dupont has been dedicated, Tarble has been desecrated, and Clothier is being redressed. Toshi Reagon and Steve Reich lifted our spirits and James Michener lifted our assets. We said goodbye to Coach Lapinski and hello again to DU.

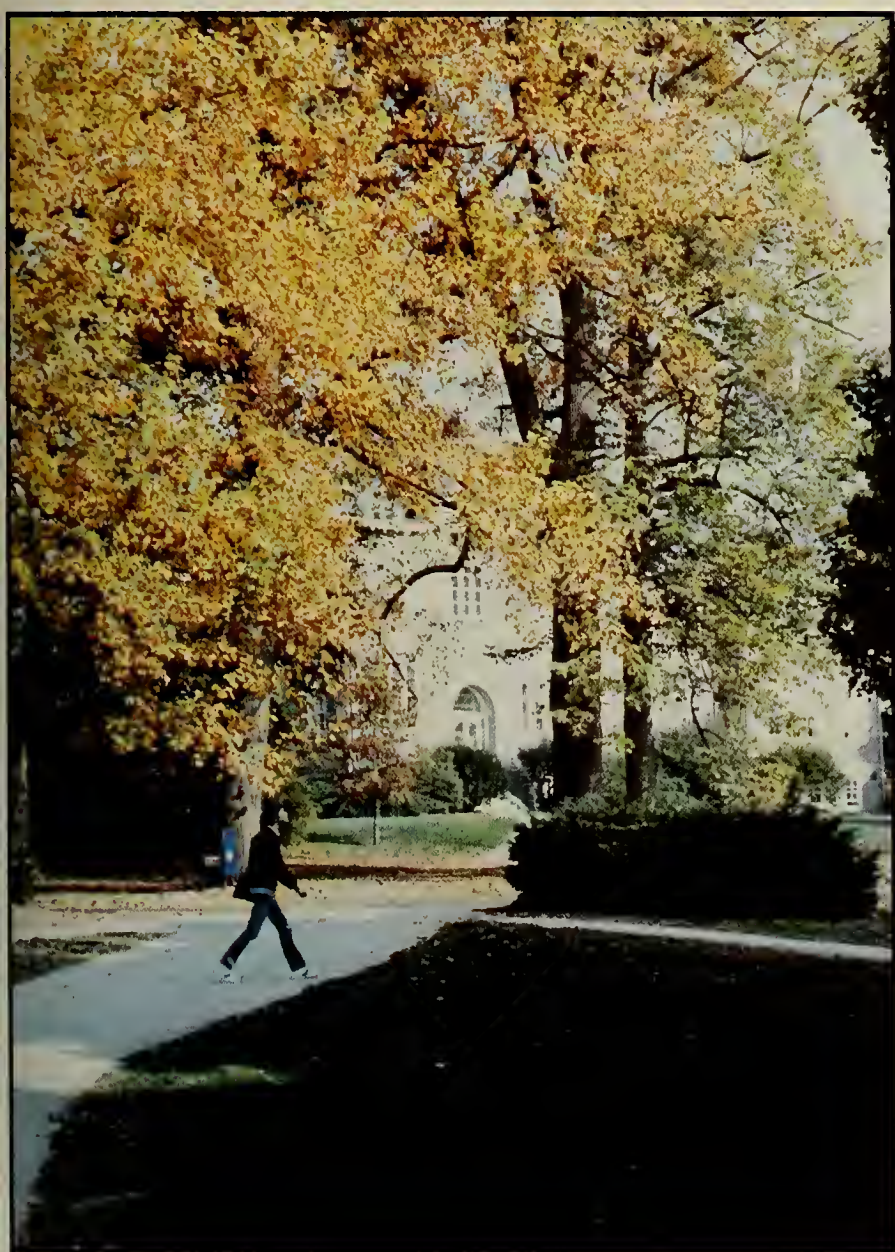

Maybe these changes are insignificant in light of the profound effect that the past four years have had on this campus. We've lost ML2, Tarble, and a Willets 3rd Floor Kitchen to fire. We've watched a fledgling football team gain steam and explode! We've added a new pool (Ware), a new dorm (Mertz), a new library (Cornell), and a new Swattie (Patsy Jardini). These four years have been characterized by flux and we were anchored here during it all. For our constancy over the past four years, this yearbook is dedicated to the class of 1985.

"WE ARE SAGA" (to the tune of "We are the World")
 There comes a time, when we heed nature's call
 When we all must come together and eat
 There are students racin', oh they're swarmin' down the hill
 And in line, they wait for filafel.

You can't go on livin' off Old Sproul
 Cause your folks refuse to send more change
 We are all a part of the Quaker Potpourri
 Come on down and make the best of your fourteen (thousand)
 Chorus:

We are SAGA, we feed your children
 We are the ones who keep your tummies full
 So let's stop bitchin'
 We've got Dial-a-Menu
 Whole lists of calories
 It's true we'll make it through the day
 Just you and I

We'll give 'em a plate, with Broccoli Cheese Bake
 So your stools will be solid and green
 As Mick has shown us, by turnin' bread to (Monte) Cristos
 Then we wash — it down with SAGA Red . . .

When it's Sunday night, and you feel like endin' it all
 Well, Cause there's Turkey Tetrazzini or Italian Meatballs
 Well, well, well, we are tryin', oh it's a tough and thankless job
 Ask the boys who cleaned the food fight floors (What's the count) . . .

The 1984 season represented one of the finest in the history of the Garnet Tide. The 8-1 record, third consecutive Conference Championship, Fourth consecutive national ranking, ten members chosen as All-Centennial players, MVP of the Centennial Conference (Glenn Bennett), and three Pizza Hut All-Americans marked the completion of the careers of twelve Seniors. The blocking of Ed Stockburger, Bob Klein, Dave Jardini, and Sean Crowley; the pass catching of Thomas Walsh; the running of Pete Coveleski; and the kicking of Bruce Abernathy and Chris Perkins enabled the Garnet to break all of the existing school scoring records. The cinderblock linebacking of Dom Lepone and Robert Toner and the interceptions of John Hiros and Ed Greene led the Garnet defense to a number one ranking nationally.

GROUPS/ORGANIZATIONS

Delta Upsilon

In February, 1983, the Delta Upsilon Fraternity was suspended from campus for a three-semester period, due to a series of incidents having occurred over the past ten years. Following this period, President Fraser invited the fraternity to submit a formal proposal for reinstatement. After a fall semester of intensive review, the President readmitted the fraternity on a probationary basis in January, 1985.

In large part, the return of D.U. was due to the resolve of its senior members to avoid repetition of the negative actions of the past, and on their firm conviction that the fraternity can enhance community life.

Dickens couldn't have captured our sentiments more appropriately than when he wrote the beginning of A Tale of Two Cities, even if he had had our years at Swarthmore. We have all loved something in our days at Swarthmore; we have all hated it here so much at times that we've wondered what could have brought us here in the first place. We were wise in a well-prepared-for class and foolish on a drunken, hazy weekend. We have found faith, doubt, hope, desperation. But above all, we have found friends and memories that will remain with us for the rest of our lives. The candid photographs in this section are a tribute to what are and have been the best and worst of our "Halcyon Days" at Swarthmore.

JAY: This is the main advantage of Swarthmore: it makes you like the village drunkard — total loss of all basic motor skill and blurred vision, no balance, numb tongue — severance of all connections between the body and the brain. It's interesting because the brain continues to function more or less normally — you can actually watch yourself behaving in this terrible way but you can't control it.

MARK: But Jay, I think that Marx said it best. "Does it require deep intuition to comprehend that man's ideas, views and conceptions, in one word, man's consciousness, changes with every change in the condition of his natural existence, in his social relations and in his social life?"

TOM: You are both wrong. All you need to remember is this: How to prevent people from detesting you: Don't try.

BART: Oh, like hold on, eh. You hosers know that ' carried you through this place — you rode on my coattails. I want a Blatz from each of you — because I'm no moron. Most importantly, remember what my buddy, Bill, said, "the fault lies not in the stars but in ourselves" that we drink Blatz. And if you ever think that life isn't going well, remember what Heman said, "No matter where you go, you're there."

"A stable situation is not necessarily a peaceful one; injustice, exploitation and discrimination are incompatible with real peace; and so a peace-directed person may be the one on whom it is laid to rock the boat, challenge the system."

We read in an old Halcyon that Swarthmore students walk around looking as if they know a secret that no one else knows. For the 1984-85 school year, this book was that secret for us. You see some new things; some old things are gone. Within the changes, we hope to have captured Swarthmore in a way that will help everyone to treasure her/his individual memories forever.

To all of you who took an interest in how the book was progressing during the year — Thanks. And to all of you who dealt directly with us during our various setbacks — Thanks; we couldn't have gotten by without you. Special thanks to Mike Gilroy; he was right when he said that the finished product would make it all worthwhile.

To the seniors — this one's for you. Use it to remember your past when you're out in the real world living your future. Take that diploma and run; best of luck wherever you go with it.

Sincerely,
Anne and Jean
